

Consumer Affairs launches social media channels

The Ministry of Consumer Affairs has made it even easier to keep up-to-date on consumer issues with the launch of their new Twitter and Facebook channels.

The Ministry has started using social media to get important messages out to consumers and businesses in New Zealand. The initiative follows close on the heels of the redevelopment of Consumer Affairs' website.

If you want up-to-date alerts on scams, consumer issues and product recalls, simply 'like' us on Facebook or follow us on Twitter.

Source: MED